

Vitamin C helps immune cell function!

Vitamin C is necessary to keep your white blood cells, T cells, and macrophages functioning. Without vitamin C, your immune cells can't work as efficiently. This increase in efficiency is why doctors say to consume vitamin C when you get sick; it has been proven to shorten the duration of the common cold.

