

Sweet potatoes are anti-inflammatory!

Sweet potatoes contain vitamin A, which has a compound in it called retinoic acid. Retinoic acid increases the number of T regulatory cells in your body; T regulatory cells decrease inflammation by turning off immune response pathways.

